

Being raised by a primary caregiver with Asperger's Disorder?

Research participants required:

Ava Pommerenk, MA, Ph(C) is a pre-doctoral candidate at Sofia University in Palo Alto, California, USA. She is conducting dissertation research for partial fulfillment of a Doctorate in Clinical Psychology.

Ava Pommerenk suspects she was raised by a primary caregiver with Asperger's Disorder. She is passionate about supporting this community and their Asperger's caregiver's well-being, humanity and visibility.

The link featured here aims to recruit participants for her dissertation research study. Ava will interview participants with questions pertaining to their experience in being raised by a primary caregiver with Asperger's Disorder, and may select some participants to take part in two short assessments.

Any information you provide to Ava will be confidential, and will only be collected with your informed consent.
